'P50-M sendoff gift for Reyes,' says retired Col. Rabusa

President Clinton's decision to grant a full and complete pardon to Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, a former leader of the Panamanian military, has been met with a mix of reactions. Retired Col. Rabusa, who served in Panama during the 1980s, says the pardon is a "P50-M sendoff gift for Reyes," referring to the general's nickname. He believes the pardon is a way for the administration to close the chapter on Noriega's controversial tenure in Panama.

Comments: The pardon of Noriega is a controversial move that has sparked debate among military and political figures. Some argue that it is a necessary step to move forward, while others believe it is a reward for a man who was involved in human rights abuses. The decision is seen as a significant moment in the history of the Panama Canal Zone.

No free ride on tax breaks

PHOENIX — A new study by the U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) says that many businesses are not taking full advantage of federal tax breaks for energy-efficient buildings. The study, released last week, found that only about 10 percent of businesses that are eligible for the breaks are actually claiming them. The GAO says that this is because many businesses are not aware of the breaks or do not know how to claim them. The study also found that many businesses are not taking advantage of the breaks for energy-efficient equipment, such as air conditioning units and lighting fixtures. 1. Identify the problem. The first step is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the symptoms and the context in which they are occurring.

2. Generate hypotheses. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to generate hypotheses. This involves brainstorming potential causes and solutions.

3. Test the hypotheses. The third step is to test the hypotheses. This involves gathering data and conducting experiments to determine which hypothesis is most likely correct.

4. Implement the solution. Once a hypothesis has been tested and found to be correct, the next step is to implement the solution. This involves putting the solution into practice and monitoring its effectiveness.

5. Evaluate the results. The final step is to evaluate the results. This involves assessing the outcomes of the solution and determining whether the problem has been successfully resolved.

Figure 1 is a line graph showing the percentage of total protein in the supernatant versus the percentage of total protein in the pellet for various proteins. The y-axis is labeled 'Protein' and ranges from 0 to 100. The x-axis is labeled 'Protein' and ranges from 0 to 100. The legend indicates: * = 100% in supernatant, * = 100% in pellet, and * = 100% in both. The graph shows that most proteins are 100% in the supernatant, with a few exceptions like BSA and IgG which are 100% in the pellet.
